

Being different.
Belonging together.

In Religion and World Views lessons at Easton we are learning about the increasingly diverse world that we live in. This includes what some people believe and how they express their faith or non-religious views.

We are working together to understand the different beliefs in our country, and around the world, so we can all live peacefully in Britain today.